A coroner's jury summoned by Dr. T. M. FOOD CONSERVATION

Intensive Campaign Proposed in Interest of 300,000,000 Hungry People in Europe Will Begin Tomorrow —The Work Is Vital.

To impress the American people with the need for food conservaton so that 200,000,000 hungry people in Europe and the near east may be fed. an intensive campaign is to be conducted next week by the United States Food Administration.

This campaign is to be started tomorrow, when a message from Food Administrator Hoover, now in Europe will be read in the churches throughout the land. During the week every possible medium will be used to awaken the nation to its opportunity for renewed service and sacrifice for the relief of millions released from the Prussian yoke.

This period is to be known as "conservation week for world relief." Each day of it will be set aside for a specal feature of the campaign.

Regarding the urgent necessity for this campaign, the food administration today in a public statement says:

"Food conservation is absolutely vital to the relief of stricken Europe. Famine is the mother of revolt and anarchy. If we allow hunger to take its toll of life in Europe, the red scourge of revolution is bound to spread, and we will see a definite collapse of the peace for which we fought and bled. We entered the conflict with the avowed purpose of establishing world peace, and if we allow this to be disrupted by uprisngs and anarchy we will have destroyed the very thing for which we entered the fray and which is now in sight.

"In the coming year we must send twenty million tons of food to Europe, practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports. The magnitude of this undertaking may better be understood in comparison with our prewar exports of less than six million tons per year and the exports last year of only 11,820,000 tons.

"WHEN A WOMAN SINS."

With that supreme actress, Theda Bara, as its star, "When a Woman Sins" furnishes what is probably the most powerful story that has been put on the screen in the last decade. It is a story of love, and the impulses of love; of sin, and its burning cost; of the wild, gay life of the abandoned souls of Broadway; of the fight of a modern Magdalen against the frowning walls of society's hypocrisy and smugness.

"The greatest moral lesson I ever learned," was the statement of a Los Angeles pastor, after he had seen "When A Woman Sins," the latest Theda Bara super-production, at a private screening in Los Angeles. "I wish every girl in America could see this film," he added. "When a Woman Sins" will be shown at the Richmond Theatre tonight.

JEWS MASSACRED

Correspondent Declares Poles Sacked And Burned Ghetto Section.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—The charge that the Poles, after capturing Lemberg the Galician capital, sacked the Jewish quarter, where the victims numbered several thousand, is made by the Lemberg correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt, who says he left the Galician city November 24. He telegraphs his newspaer from Breslau as follows.

"Since Friday Lemberg, which has been the scene of desperate street fighting, is again in the hands of the Poles after having been stubbornly defended by the Ukrainians. The casualties among the soldiers and civilians are estimated as in excess of 1,000. A large section of the inner city was completely destroyed.

"Immediately upon entering the city the Poles proceeded to sack and burn the ghetto district, whose victims numbered several thousands. The streets were filled with the charred bodies of murdered Jews, many of whom in the frenzy of despair, had leaped from the burning buildings which were surrounded by Polish troops. The Polish authorities were indifferent and declined to take measures to halt the slaughter. Polish legions roped off the streets leading to the ghetto and methodically proceeded to pillage, rapine and burning.

"The Polish authorities are attempting to blame uniormed bandits for the pogroms, although it is commonly known that the terrorists are not only amply supplied with arms and ammunition, but that they threatened the Jews in the event Lemberg

FEAST ON WILD TURKEY

Like Pilgrim Fathers, They Are Forced to Get Thanksgiving Meal With Rifles.

Archangel, Nov. 30.—So far as was possible in this frozen wilderness, the American troops in Northern Russia tried to observe an old-fashioned American Thanksgiving in box cars, block houses, village billets and birch-bough shelters and around camp fires near the Bolshevik lines. As much leisure as was permitted by the military situation was granted the troops. Some of them at far-away points along almost impassable roads had only their rations, but for the most part special treats weer sent along the way in sleighs.

Some of the men had wild turkey, like the Pilgrim fathers, brought down by rifle bullets in the wilderness game country for their Thanksgiving meal.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

Secretary of State Lansing, Colonel House, Henry White and General Bliss Will Be in Party—Vigorous Protests Expected From Labor.

Washington, Nov. 30.—President Wilson last night announced the following personnel of the United States peace delegation:

President Wilson, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Col. E. M. House, Henry White, former American Ambassador to France; Gen. Tasker H. Bliss. The President is also a delegate.

It was announced that it had been impossible to give out the names of those composing the delegation sooner because of the uncertainty existing as to the number of delegates to represent the United States.

It is generally accepted that Great Britain, France Italy, Belgium and Japan also will send five delegates.

Japan's delegation already is enroute to France, and her five representatives will be selected from the personnel of the party.

No official statement as to the representation to be allowed the lesser belligerents was obtainable. It is considered as likely that most of these will be represented by their diplomatc envoys in Paris.

Comment was made here last night on the fact that in selecting the personnel of the delegation the President disregarded the United States Senate and organized labor. The request of suffrage leaders for the appointment of a woman as a delegate also went unheeded.

While criticism of the President for failing to name a Senator probably will be made by some members of that body, Democratic supporters of the Admnstration are ready to rise in his defense.

Organized labor is expected to express vigorous protest against the lack of a labor man in the delegation. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, had been informally agreed upon and suggested as labor's delegate, and it was confidently expected in labor circles that he would be appointed. Great disappointment among the labor element is certain.

"THE ROUGH LOVER."

Helen of Troy is reputed to have been the most beautiful woman of history, but she had nothing on the Helen who is the heroine of "The Rough Lover," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Monday, either in the matter of beauty or perversity. She could not tell the difference between her rough lover, who was a pugilist, and her timid lover, who was a book worm, until the book worm beat up the pugilist and made him jump off a cliff. But this provided excitement enough for Helen for one morning, so she surrendered and became merely Mrs. Bolton. The role of the beautiful Helen is effectively enacted by Juanita Hansen, Franklyn Farnum's newly acquired leading lady.

Another episode of "The Hand of Vengeance," also will be shown at the Grand on Monday.

SUPERIOR TO GASOLENE

Washington, Nov. 30.—The advantages of "liberty fuel," the new substitute for gasoline, which is regarded as one of the most important discoveries of the war, were reviewed today by Major O. B. Zimmerman, who, with Capt. E. C. Weisgarber, both of the gas and oil production division of the War Department, is responsible for its discovery.

Major Zimmerman summarizes the advantages of the new fuel as follows:

Engines start easier.

Fuel explodes at temperatures even below zero.

Mileage per gallon is grater.

Safe against premature explosion.

Some materials used in manufacture now drug in market.

The base of the new oil is kerosene, Major Zimmerman said. The other ingredients are of low cost, and can be obtained readily. The process of manufacturing is exceedingly simple.

WILHELM CAN BE TRIED

Washington, Nov. 30.—Leading jurists of Great Britain and this country are convinced that the former Kaiser can be brought to trial under the present provisions of international law and are urging that he be punished for the atrrocities perpetrated by the Germans under his command during the war.

In an address last night at Newcastle, England, Premier Lloyd George declared that the leading jurists of Great Britain were convinced that there was sufficient legal machinery in existence for bringing the ex-Kaiser before the bar of justice.

F. E. Smith, attorney general, of Great Britain, in a campaign speech last night, said the coalition government will insist on the personal accountability of the former Emperor for the crimes of the war.

Charles Thaddeus Terry, member of the executive committee of the American Bar Association, in an interview in New York today, said that the Kaiser has been indicted in two Western states, and under the treaty between the United States and Holland could be extradited.

Army officers in Washington likewise express the belief that the ex Kaiser can be extradited and tried under present international law.

MIGHTY WHEAT STOCK

Reported to Be Two and a Half Times as Large as Year Ago.

Washngton, Nov. 30.—The nation's granaries are well filled with a vastly larger commercial stock on hand than that of a year ago, the Agricultural Department announced yesterday.

The statement shows that commercial stocks of wheat on hand November 1 amounted to 274,925,910 bushels, two and a half times as large as that of a year ago and an increase of 51,928,071 over the stock October 1.

This stock does not represent the entire commercial stock on hand nor does it include that held by farmers. It was held by 12,538 firm.

Commercial stocks of other cereals November 1 were: Corn, 17,123,73 bushels; oats, 79,775,204 bushels; barley, 34,462,597 bushels, and rye, 15,233,185 bushels. In each case these figures show large increases over last year's stock.

AGAIN WOUNDED

Samuel M. Martin, This City, Twice Victim in Battle and Also Gassed Once.

Private Samuel M. Martin, son of Deputy Marketmaster James B. Martin, of this city, who is a member of a Canadian Regiment, was wounded in action in France, and on November 18 was admitted to a general hospital in Rouen, France, according to a telegram just received by his father from the director of record, Ottawa, Canada.

Private Martin, who has been a member of the regiment since the outbreak of the war, was once before wounded and on another occasion was gassed.

FORMAL ABDICATION

William Hohenzollern Promptly Complies With Demand of Berlin Government—Signed Renunciation of Throne by Crown Prince Demanded

Copenhagen, Nov. 30.—William Hohenzollern promptly complied with the demand from the Berlin government for his formal abdication.

The document reached Berlin late yesterday, the "Acht Uhr Abendblatt," of that city, announces.

A signed renunciation of the throne by the ex-crown prince was demanded.

Absence of a signed abdication decree has been one of the main weapons of the radicals in Germany who have been exploiting it to tell the masses that the ex-Kaiser proposes to return at a propitious moment and place himself at the head of a counter revolution.

The anti-Kaiserites, comprising the overwhelming mass of the people, are known to be prepared for everything. If the thing has to be fought out, they want the decisive combat now, rather than giving the royalists time to organize.

They believe the hour is ripe for wiping every vestige of Kaiserism off the soil of Germany. They want to burn out every atom of infective matter while the wound is still open.

The man who looms largest on the German revolutionary horizon as a moulder of the tattered empire's future is Kurt Eisner, premier of the Republic of Bavaria.

A few months ago he was constantly shadowed and many times prosecuted for daring to make guarded criticisms of the king whom he replaced as virtual ruler in the first stage of the revolt.

The Frankfurter Zeitung's Berlin correspondent says the strike in the German capital yesterday again assumed disquieting proportions.

Vienna newspapers foreshadow an early publication of diplomatic documents fixing the responsibility for the war.

In Germany the movement for similar revelations grows. Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, who was chancellor in 1914 has made a public statement, welcoming a thorough inquiry into his part of the pre-war machinations. He denies he was aware of the text of the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, and says when he did learn it he considered it too harsh, both in tenor and contents.

A Berlin dispatch says allied representatives will arrive shortly in Berlin to discuss the armistice question.

There is no confirmation of this here, but it is held probable that such representatives will go to Germany to investigate Solf's claim that enforcement of the clause providing for the surrender to the allies of a large number of locomotives and vehicles will cripple the German transport system and lead to famine.

London, Nov. 30.—A counter revolution, led by some of the more influential generals, has broken out in Germany, the Daily Express learns from its Amsterdam correspondent.

Gen. von Arnim, who commanded the German armies in Flanders, and Generals von Elsa and von der Marwitz, who commanded the German Verdun front, as well as other generals, are leading the counter rebels, the dispatch says.

Their object is to place the ex-Kaiser back on the throne.

Many soldiers are reported to have joined the counter rebellion, tearing down the red flags.

FORGETTING THE THINGS THAT ARE BEHIND

Let the past go and forget,
What's the difference all the while;
There is life and laughter yet,
Live and toil and smile.
We are children of the times,
And beyond our night the dawn
Calls with all its silver chimes
To be brave and keep right on.

Most readers of the Gazette will gather in their respective places of worship tomorrow to express their thanksgiving to the bounteous Creator for the blessings which have attended them during the closing week. All have at times their piques with dispositions to show resentment, and too often are our minds wandering like the fool's eyes over the earth instead of entering into the spirit which should animate us at all times, more especially on the first day of the week and while in the sanctuary.

The month of November 1918, will ever be memorable for reasons well-known and not requiring recapitulation at this time. The Sun of Righteousness is again shedding his healing beams over the world, now about to recuperate from the effects of the dark cloud which hung so long over us. Our fierce enemies are cowering and harmless, while the right-thinkin gpeople of the planet are breathing easier, realizing that there is nothing to fear from those who for a time rode rough shod over civilization. We should be

Living thankfulness each day,
That's the way to crown the strife;
Always something good to say
Of the mingled fate of life.
Grateful for the sunny hours
Happy for the toil that wins.
And amid the storm and showers
Trying to redeem our sins!

THE CASE OF SPAIN

Roswell in his life of Johnson gives us a letter written by the great English scholar to the faculty of the Pembroke College after they had concluded to confer the degree of A. M. upon him. The letter is resentful. The writer in his early years had requested the college to confer this degree upon him when it would have been a help in his fight against poverty. After Johnson had placed himself upon the top the college was anxious to make him an A. M. The lexicographer, now old and irritable, declined the honor, and told the faculty they reminded him of bystanders upon the seashore watching a man battling with the waves in his endeavors to reach land, but offering no help. After having landed successfully they all rush toward him and are anxious to help him up the hill.

The Richmond Virginian in speaking of the course of Spain during the recent war says the efforts of the Spanish politicians who have kept that country neutral through years of German arrogance and injuries have suddenly been turned to making friends with the nations which fought Germany. Teutonic influence was strong in the peninsula, even to the point of influencing cabinet changes; but all that was swept away when the armistice showed Germany wholly defeated.

The instant scramble of high Spanish officials to square themselves and their government with the allies became a mad stampede as soon as the terms of the armistice became known in detail. Describing the events that followed, the Christian Science Monitor says:

"The message from Madrid told of how there were signs throughout the whole country of a 'sharp awakening to the precarious situation regarding immediate international settlements'; how an extraordinary sudden interest was being taken in the league of nations scheme; how methods were being devised throughout the country 'to honor the allies;' how a regular movement was on foot to confer the freedom of Spanish cities on President Wilson, and how Cartagena had earned the gratitude of the whole country for its 'heaven-sent inspiration' in naming one of its streets La Calle de los Aliados. The whole situation, if it were not real tragedy, would be comedy par excellence. The spectacle of a once great people imagining that it can by a few superficial devices retrieve, in a few short hours, the mistakes of years; that it can really hoodwink half the world by the flimsiest political changes, and that it can persuade humanity, to whom it has been unfaithful in the fullest sense of the word, that it has really been devoted all the time to its highest interests, is a sorry exhibition indeed."

PROPOSED CHURCH MERGER

It has ever been noticeable that after a war better feeling exists, for a time at least, between members of various religious denominations. In the conflict from which our country is about to emerge all denominations vied in sundry good and essential work, and soldiers returning to their homes in Alexandria are loud in their praises of the work of the Red Cross, Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus, Jewish organizations and others who have played noble parts during the past few years.

It is said that over one hundred different sects of the Christian religion exist today. Each assumes it is acting by inspiration, and the best feeling is not always in evidence between these various sects.

A millionaire Jew in New York, long since deceased, who was a whole-souled philanthropist in his day, was approached on one ocasion by a deputation from one of the many Christian churches and asked why he did not ally himself with an evangelical congregation. The Israleite replied substantially as follows: "What do you mean by the Christian religion? You have so many branches, each of which supposes it is the oracle of Jehovah. Do you wish me to become an Episcoalian, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Congregationalist, Christian Scientist, one of the Holy Rollers, or what?"

The delegation attempted to explain themselves, but the financier waved them off and said: "Now agree among yourselves first; then I will talk to you."

The world is now reading more closely the words of the great apostle: "For by one spirit, we are all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether bond or free; and have all been made to drink of the same spirit."

Church unity is the purpose of a congress to meet in Philadelphia next Tuesday, which will be attended by over 100 representatives of leading Protestant denominations throughout the United States. This congress is the result of action taken by the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Columbus, Ohio, that "we do declare and place on record our profound conviction that the time has come for organic church union of the evangelical churches of America."

The aim is to make one federal church of all these denominations and an inter-denominational council to map out details is one of the plans. The movement had its inclination in overtures made to the Presbyterian general assembly which showed, as Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, chairman, stated, "an earnest desire for church unity growing in power in the hearts of many."

Clerical and lay delegates from the following denominations have already accepted invitations to attend the congress; Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Reformed, United Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical Synod of North America, Moravian Church in America.

WILL HISTORY BE REPEATED?

The manner in which Louis XVI. was treated by the Jacobins in Paris during the French revolution is one of the most pathetic in the annals of the reign of terror. A Liberty cap was placed upon his head, while the monarch was subjected to all sorts of indignities.

William Hohenzollern might pass through similar thrilling experiences were he to fall into the hands of many in Germany at present. He with the members of his family are suffering untold apprehension in Holland, as the allies are virtually demanding that he be delivered up, while his own people are as bitter against him as are the nations allied against him.

From inhabitants of the picturesque Rhineland we are learning some interesting "inside" stories of what happened during the German revolution and of what is going on in the former empire now.

In Cologne there is a statue of the former Kaiser. It has been there for years. But could the ex-Emperor see it now he would feel probably as nothing else could make him feel, how he has fallen in the estimation of his countrymen. Rebel soldiers have "decorated" the statue. They have placed a dunce cap on William's head of bronze. In one hand they have placed a traveling bag, and in the other a cane. On his back, they have hung a placard, reading:

"Here goes the great scoundrel."

It seems that the uncurbed utterances and agitation for Soviets among the soldiers and sailors behind the actual front developed the revolutionary spirit that finally broke loose in the overthrow of William Hohenzollern.

An article in your paper of Wednesday 27th, I hardly think just to the young ladies who paid the expenses of the War Camp Community dances during the summer months, when the "city's best young ladies" only found time for the Officers' dances at the Boat Club. That few of the soldiers who came will agree there was any reason why those dances were not "hailed with a good deal of delight" is the opinion of one who was glad to contribute in a small way to the soldiers entertainment.

WANTS SCHELDT FREED

Belgium, at Peace Conference, Will Ask Neutralization of Mouth of River.

Washington, Nov. 30.—One of the questions Belgium will bring up at the peace conference will be that of the neutralization of the mouth of the River Scheldt.

The Scheldt, of which Antwerp is the principal port, empties into the North Sea on Dutch soil and while Holland and Belgium have had amicable agreements as to its use for commercial purposes, Belgium has never ceased to feel that the southern bank of the river, at least, should be Belgian soil.

This question, however, will not be gone into. All Belgium will ask is that the mouth of the Scheldt be declared neutral water.

The Scheldt has been filled in by silt since the begining of the war and is now useless for shipping until it has been dredged. But Belgium cannot begin dredging operations without consent of the Dutch Government.

COUNTER REVOLUTION

London, Nov. 30.—Three German generals are attempting to launch a counter military revolution in Germany to replace the ex-Kaiser on the throne, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Express today.

The German generals in question are von Arnem, von Elsa, and von Der Maritz.

They are said to have the assistance of other military leaders.

They have may soldiers in their following it is reported.

LETTER FROM FRANCE

The following is a copy of a letter just received by William Lewis Allen, this city, from First Lieut. J. G. C. Salyers, of this city, now with the Railway Artillery Supply Depot in France.

Am coming again on you with politics. Every man has a devouring passion in his heart, as every fruit has a worm. My passion is "politics." I fainly would sit with President Wilson in the "Chair," address audiences with Teddy, preach humanity with Dr. Mott, fight battles with Foch and sign articles with Colonel House.

Armistices keep me busy for the last two weeks. "Armistice" is the watchword of Europe. "Armistice" is on the tongue of every living being. Every newspaper one reads, every meal one consumes, every discussion one hears, is full of "Armistice." When I scrutinize the faces of the Boche prisoners who work around our incinerator I can easily read on them "Armistice." Of course, those who have had no previous experience in diplomacy call those armistices signed with Bulgaria, Turkey and Austro-Hungary "Surrender." Strange as it is, by hek, those unexerienced are right. It is the national feeling and will of our Doughboys to call "Armistice"—"Surrender." Their will must be done. Pray, have all the dictionaries printed in the United States define "Armistice" as "Surrender."

It is felt in every corner that the war is at an end and the Kaiser is not a distance off. The Chief of the Hohenzollerns may say: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the feller who needs a friend." "I wish the Kaiser comes to the United States and pays a visit to Washington—says a Doughboy from the Capitol—I bet you we'll give him such a reception that will make the White House blush. "Damn the Kaiser" is the next expression after "Armistice." It is my impression that one depends on the other.

Certain consciences are never calm; the Kaiser is excusing himself before his Fatherland and the world when nobody is asking him to do so. Our lads wont hear of his excuses and are simply going wild over the collapse of Germany's Allies. It soubles their enthusiasm. The German nut, which was so hard to be cracked by all the Allies put together in 1915-16, is giving way to the healthy teeth of our "Baby-Army." When you read these lines that nut will probably be swallowed by that baby, kernel and all.

There is a mixture of joy and grief in the heart of every Yank now, when victory is near.

Victory will enable democracy to encircle the globe and make the world a "place fit to live in." Truth will raise above waves, steel and flames. Every one will retake his place at the fireside and lend a hand in keeping the home-fires burning. Mothers, wives, sisters, brothers, fathers and children—all will crowd the home-town stations waiting eagerly for the puffing engine which will bring the boys rolling home—rolling home. Put.

Victory! Many a beloved father, husband and son have paid the price of it. Many orphans remain unsheltered; many homes remain unbuilt; many a fireside broken up; and many, many a heart is broken. All these things will be soon forgotten in the great Babylon of excited life by the happy and satisfied. Many are wounded morally through the atrocities and barbarisms committed by the civilized intruder, those wounds conceal themselves but never close; always painful, always ready to bleed when touched. They remain fresh and open in the heart.

Peril, hunger, disease and privation tore away from once happy families all they loved, all they admired, all they depended on in this world. When the "Liberty Bells" will ring again and every bosom will breath joy, will the cries of those victims be heard? Will their hearts be solaced and their sorrows mitigated? Alas, dear brother, these questions make many an eye shed a tear.

It was in America, that arose the sun, which, in accomplishing its course, was to make France the torch-bearer of liberty, by the light of which the afrighted autocrats of Europe were to read the republic traced in characters of blood. "Le sentiment human reveille vite dans pays libre" said V. Hugo.

It is up to America, then, the cradle of liberty, and home of the free, to protect those maimed, abandoned and suffering heroes, who, here in France, bled white and gave their lives that the republic, America's offspring, may live.

Am working pretty hard. The capacity of Censor has been thrown upon me. Every letter has to be weighed on the scale of my judgment. This is in addition to all the rest of my duties. So, at the end of a perfect day, I feel like an accumulator which has discharged all his storage power.

Salute, in my name, all our common acquaintances and friends.

Je vous prie, dear Frater, d'agreer l'expression de mes plus profonds sentments. (Ah Oui!)

Thy Brother, J. G. C. Salyers,
First Lieut. C. A. C.

PERSHING'S PLAN

Whole Course of Plan and Strategy Changed After an Interview Wth Foch and Haig.

Washington, Nov. 30.—There is ample warrant from high officials here for the statement that the whole course, plan and strategy of the war on the western front were changed as the result of an interview between Generals Pershing, Foch and Haig some few days before the 29th of June of the present year.

The plan of Pershing, as related at the interview here involved the withdrawal of the American troops which had been trained in the British ranks and also a withdrawal from French brigading arrangements. General Pershing's reasons for these withdrawals were explained here last night by army officers who would be in a position to know the facts. The withdrawals were made over the protest of British generals, whose troops had been inactive for many months, who would launch no offensives and who had counted on the indefinite presence of large bodies of American troops with the British army.

The time came in June when the American forces aggregated more than a million for the United States troops "to fight as a nation." This determination was reached some days before June 29 of this year, when General Pershing withdrew five whole divisions from the British sectors. From that time the progress of withdrawals went on and with a purpose which General Pershing and his staff mapped out. General Pershing's purposes were manifold:

1. That the gate into Germany was via Sedan.
2. That the American forces could make this a success.
3. That the American troops were entitled to fight on front of their own—that is, as the sole troops in combat sectors.
4. That the period of inactivity since the German drive in March was to the advantage of the Germans, and that there should be an offensive in great force.
5. That the Americans had knowledge that the Germans intended to make the drive over the Marne about the middle of June, although it did not burst until about the middle of July.

LABOR IN ARMS

Commutation of Mooney Rouses Deep Resentment; Demand Freedom.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Instead of allaying the labor unrest throughout the country, Governor Stephens, by commuting Mooney's sentence to life imprisonment, has aroused deeper resentment than ever among the ranks of labor, acording to Central Labor Union officials.

A closed session of the committee appointed last Monday to recommend to the central body some action in the Mooney case was held last night. Their report will be made next Monday night at the regular meeting of the union. This committee is cooperating with other central and local unions throughout the country to secure a new trial for Mooney.

"The recent disclosures," said N. A Janus, secretary of the Central Labor Union, yesterday, "made by the Densmore report regarding the criminal activities of high officials connected with the prosecution of Mooney, and the statement of Frank P. Walsh, joint chairman of the War Labor Board charging that the recent case in the Federal courts has proven that District Attorney Fickert, Mooney's prosecutor, was in league with German dynamiters has strengthened the belief in labor circles that Mooney and his co-defendants were framed up."

WED BLIND HEROES

Marriages Occur at Rate of Two Weekly—Some Men Never Saw Brides.

London, Nov. 30.—An average of two weddings a week takes place among blind soldiers at St. Dunstan. More than 200 have been married. Not only do girls keep their vows to wed, made before the men were blinded in combat, but in many cases girls who have refused proposals of marriage before the war now insist on being married to the blinded heroes. Sometimes the men marry girls they have never seen.

At St. Dunstan's the blinded soldiers are trained to be self-supporting and these men are able to support their wives. A silver teapot is the gift of every blind soldier married from the institute and a wedding breakfast is given.

PRINCE KILLED IN AIRPLANE

Great Grandson of Louis Philipe of France in British Service.

The Prince was flying from France to England and was forced to make a landing at Old Southgate. The airplane got out of control and collided with a cottage. The pilot of the machine was killed and the Prince was fatally hurt.

Prince Antoine was the son of Prince Gaston Count d'Eu and Princess Isabelle of Braganza. He was born in 1881 and early in the war was a captain in the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

Comptroller Warwick, of Treasury, Throws Into Confusion Baker's Cancellation Plans.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The Government's maturing program for canceling big war orders with the minimum of disturbance to busness conditions was thrown into confusion yesterday by a decision of Comptroller Warwick, of the Treasury that thousands of orders placed by telegram, telephone or mail are not legally binding and that consequently they may not be recognized through the negotiation of terminating contracts without special legislation by Congress. Officials estimated that hundreds of millions of dollars in contracts are involved.

At the same time Secretary Baker announced that the War Department will direct its own cancellation of contracts "in a spirit of fairness and hopefulness to all concerned."

Attorney-General Gregory will be asked to pass on this apparent conflict between the law, as strictly interpreted by Comptroller Warwick, whose authority grows out of his supervision of payments from the Treasury and the desire of the War Department to terminate contracts—both those backed up by formally signed documents and those undertaken on informal agreements—by making some sort of a lump sum payment to the contractor.

If legislation is found to be necessary it is said that an attempt will be made to rush it through Congress immediately to avoid holding up the Government's great industrial mobilization and readjustment plans.

VIRGINIA NEWS

The Virginia Military Institute will return to a "peace" basis Monday.

The British Educational Mission was at the University of Virginia today as guests of the university.

"Sanoma," the beautiful residence on the Catharpin road near Gainesville, once the home of the late T. B. Price, was totally destroyed by fire one night this week.

Captain Charles W. Stanley, who has long resided in Danville, died Thursday morning. He had been ill for several months. Captain Stanley had been in the service of the Southern Railway for over thirty years, having connected himself with the railway interests in the days when the road was called the Richmond and Danville road.

A double visitation of death in one family occurred near Mount Herman, in Pittsylvania county, this week, in the family of D. G. Davis, when his young daughter, Estelle, died after a short illness with influenza, and while the burial of the child, Ester, also passed away from the same disease. In addition to this, two more of his children are also very ill of the same malady.

The Gaines home, at Gainesville, Va., was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. This homestead had been in the Gaines family for more than a century. The Gaines estate was purchased recently by Dr. Selma Mason, with a view to enlarging his farm land in the neighborhood, but the young physician contracted influenza at his sanitorium in Clarksburg, West Virginia, and died shortly after acquiring possession of the farm.

James Nottingham, aged 29, was shot through the groin, and Artis Scott, aged 21, was shot through the leg at a negro dance hall at Cape Charles Thursday night. Nottingham's condition is serious. Both are colored mess attendants at the Cherrystone naval base. The shooting, which is said to have resulted over the jealousy of a woman, was done by Jerry Warren, a negro.

Allie Thompson, a negro, charged with assault upon a white woman, was taken from jail by a mob and lynched in Culpeper county Sunday night. Two men went to the jail with a man bound in ropes. The jailers believed their story that they had a prisoner and opened the jail door. Fifteen masked men stepped inside, overpowered the jailers, and quietly took the negro from a cell. At daybreak the body of the negro was found dangling from a tree on the Rixeyville road, 3 miles from Culpeper.

Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the House banking and currency committee is understood to have been asked by President Wilson to become a member of the Federal reserv board, to succeed Frederic A. Delano, who resigned to enter the army. It was said yesterday the membership was offered before the resignation of Secretary McAdoo, and while Mr. Glass is reported to have expressed reluctance to accept at that time, the offer still is open. Mr. Glass is in Europe, and is expected to return soon.

CIGARS SAVED MANY

Their Value as Gas Neutralizer is Claimed by More Than One Yank.

Paris, Nov. 30.—Cigars saved a lot of American soldiers from deadly gas.

They could be bought cheap at army commissaries near the front. Many officers and enlisted men went into battle smoking cigars.

Their value as a gas neutarlizer is claimed by more than one. Major Arthur D. Hill, 460 Norwood Avenue, Toledo, Ohio, told me he thought more of a good strong cigar than a gas mask.

Hill was a National Guardsman 24 years and served in the Spanish American War.

"I think a cigar kills the Hun's gas just like it kills moths and germs," Hill said. His statement was indorsed by Major Leroy J. Linn, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Linn told me of an instance when he and two other officers were climbing a hill during an advance. A stray shot hit one of his companions in the side. Linn and the third man started to give him first aid when they smelled gas.

"The other fellow put on his gas mask right away," he said, "but it seemed to get them. He wasn't any use at all. I had a strong cigar in my mouth. I finished the first aid and the gas never touched me."

THROW OUT THE HUN

This is an Issue in the Coming British Elections Campaign.

London, Nov. 30.—There is crystalizing throughout Great Britain a fear of German invasion—not an invasion threatening life and limb, but of the insidious sort, looked upon as an offshoot of the doctrine of "peaceful penetration," and as menacing British national institutions and ideas.

"Throw out the Huns and keep them out," is the issue bein raised in the election campaign, and "big business" has actually inaugurated a policy toward that end, the purpose being that of never again allowing Germans to work themselves into high and influential places in England.

The Carlton Hotels Company already has invited the proprietors of the Ritz-Carlton in New York to co-operate in this campaign, according to Chairman William Harris, of the board of directors of the company.

"In view of the threatened influx of enemy aliens," said Mr Harris to Universal Service today, "the board of directors has prohibited the employment by the Carlton and Ritz hotels here of any German citizens and has asked the New York Ritz-Carlton Hotel to follow its example."

The Northcliffe papers are fanning the popular feeling in this respect, and, incidentally are attacking Premier Lloyd-George for not defining his stand on the question.

AMERICAN RAILWAY EXPRESS OFFICIALS JOIN WITH COUNCIL OF DEFENSE IN PLEA FOR EARLY CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

(Suggest December 10th as Final Shipping Date.)

Vice-President D. S. Elliott in charge of traffic for the American Railway Express Company, has informed all operating officials and agents of the express organization throughout the United States, that it is the purpose of the company to uphold in every way the request of the Council of Defense that Christmas express shipments be started on their way by December 5th.

A concerted effort will be made in every city and town in the country by the 125,000 express employes, to emphasize the importance of preventing any possible congestion of transportation facilities during these critical times. Although the express facilities are very elastic, so much of the equipment is now used strictly for war purposes, that all gift shipments for long distance travel should be delivered to the express company not later than December 5th, and for short hauls not later than December 10th. This will allow ample time for sorting and delivering before Christmas Day.

"We wish to emphasize strongly," said Mr. Elliott, "the point raised by the Council of National Defense, that nothing should be forwarded, which will interfere with essential war business. Just now the movement of equipment and supplies for the Oveaseas Forces is heavy and exacting, and there should be no domestic burden placed upon transportation, which would tend to lessen the delivery of war shipments.

"Also during winter months there is a tremendous movement of foodstuffs to all of the larger cities. These foodstuffs are perishable and next to war shipments must be given first consideration.

"We are asking our men everywhere to bring these points before our patrons, and to emphasize more strongly than ever the vital importance of proper packing and legible marking. We are asking them to refuse all shipments which are not packed strongly enough to reach their destination with ordinary handling, and to insist that the address of the sender and of the consignee be placed on a card and enclosed inside the package."

" A DAUGHTER OF THE OLD SOUTH "

The story is a charming one and the picture as a whole an artistic gem. The Sunny South, laden with the sweet scents of orange blossoms and magnolias, is the scene of the Star's newest photoplay.

Also Bray's Pictograph.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Austria-Hungary lost 4,000,000 killed and wounded during the war, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen. Eight hundred thousand men were killed, including 17,000 officers.

Two American destroyers and six submarine chasers left Queenstown yesterday to meet President Wilson's ship in the Atlantic as part of the escort for the American Chief Executive on his voyage to Europe. Later a fleet of larger American, French, British and Italian warships will meet the Wilson ship in mid-ocean and accompany it to a French port, presumably Brest.

William G. McAdoo resigned from the Secretaryship of the Treasury because of a serious difference of opinion with the President. Mr. Wilson has about determined, it seems, to become a candidate for a third term as President in 1920. This decision shocked and disappointed Mr. McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo has been fully justified, his friends believe, in feeling that he is entitled to the Democratic nomination for President in 1920.

Shattered of mind from caring for innumerable gassed soldiers in France after the battle of Chateau Thierry, Monaca Brock, an army nurse, aged 33, hanged herself yesterday afternoon at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Since November 27 the patient, who suffered with an acute case of melancholia, had been missing from her ward. Yesterday she was discovered hanging from a tree in the rear of "T" building of the hospital.

Mrs. Nettie Ash, of Gloversville, N. Y., considers that her husband, Arthur, stuck too closely to the stereotyped legal form in an "I will not be responsible for my wife's debts" advertisement, in which he proclaimed that she "has left my bed and board." Mrs. Ash "came back" in the papers next issue with the following advertisement: "I, having just cause and provocation, have left Arthur Ash's board, but not his bed, as that was mine and I took it with me."

Former Emperor Charles has been informed by the government at Vienna that he must leave Austria because of the counter revolutionary movement there, according to a dispatch to Copenhagen. The Former Charles of Austria is suffering from a mental depression, according to an Insbruck dispatch. He sits for hours at his desk staring vacantly. Former Empress Zita is much distressed by her husband's state of health.

Boston, New York, Newport News, and Charleston, S. C., are the ports the War Department now plans to use for the return of the army from overseas. Even with this wide distribution of the strain on port facilities and transportation, however, and with German ships now idle in German harbors employed on the task, careful estimates show that the last of the army would not possibly reach the United States in less than eight months. Conservative calculations upon which preparations by the department probably will be based fifteen months as the minimum.

Miss Frances Zeizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Zeizer, wealthy residents of Schenectady, N. Y., explained yesterday the unexpected landing near her home Thursday of an aeroplane. She said it was flown from Washington by her friend, Lieut. Philip W. Lucas, who came to eat Thanksgiving dinner with her. She had considered a telegram from him, saying he would fly to her home from Washington, as a joke until he made a landing, walked quickly to the Zeizer home and announced that he had grown a very respectable appetite for turkey while flying at an altitude of 6,500 feet.

Bituminous coal production and distribution have reached such a satisfactory point in relation to demand that Fuel Administrator Garfield declared yesterday that he is considering abolition of all price and zone restrictions on bituminous coal on December 15. Anthracite distribution remains a problem that will require the active attention of the Fuel Administration for an indefinite period, he said. Other branches will so far have completed their work by January 1 that only a nucleus of their organizations will be necessary after that date, Dr. Garfield said, so far as present circumstances indicate,

"There will be a just peace, but it will be sternly just." That was the burden of a speech yesterday at Newcastle, Eng., by Premier Lloyd George. There was nothing of vengeance in his words, but he made it clear that "stern justice" includes proper punishment of those guilty of unloosing the war and of the atrocities committed on land and sea—the "kings and emperors and submarine pirates," Germany must pay the cost of the war to the limit of her capacity, the Premier declared, adding: "But I must utter a warning that we have to consider the question of capacity." In the lives of individuals as well as that of nations, he said, the principle of justice has always been, and is now "the loser pays."

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixon Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn., —"About 10 years ago I was," says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place, "I sufferd with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side.

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try som more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommended it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Alexandria People Have Good Reason For Complete Reliance.

Do you know how—
To find relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To assist weak kidney?
Your neighbors know the way—
Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;

Have proved their worth in many tests

Mrs. Nannie Scott, 1'0 Prince St., says: "I suffered from severe pains through my back and loins and was unable to rest well and in the morning felt tird and worn out. I also had frequent dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in every way and it is a pleasure to recommend them to other kidney sufferers.'

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER Mrs. Scott said: "I am still as enthusiastic over Doan's as I was when I gave my first recommendation. I have always received splendid results when I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs Scott had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
